We fuel the startup journey

We're here to boost digital startups with contacts, exposure and investments, from the start of their life cycle and throughout.

After our 10th Anniversary and to remain true to our mission, we have decided to co-locate with MWC as an independent yet deeply connected event, combining the best of both worlds under one roof to enhance the experience for everyone in our ecosystem.

This means our event not only brings together all the players you need for a winning digital startup (like investors and corporate innovators), but it also springboards startups onto the radar of the most powerful decision makers in the connectivity ecosystem – such as CEOs from global mobile operators and frontier tech companies.

All this helps new business ventures grow the wings they need to take off and fly high.
